PROPOSE TO STOP CITY BOND ISSUE

Thirty-Two Taxpayers File Remonance Against Raising $30,000
For Improvements

UNNECESSARY. THEY ASSERT

Councilmen Say it Will Result in City Building Being Condemned and New One Built

Thirty-two taxpayers of the city have filed a remonstrance, asking for an appeal in the proposed $30,000 bond issue of the city council, to the state board of tax commissioners, setting out in their remonstrance that the improvements are unnecessary, unwise and excessive.

The remonstrance was filed with Phil Wilk, county auditor, who in turn today certified the facts to the state board, and they will set a date for the hearing.

The remonstrance is headed by Dr. D. H. Dean, and the other signatures are those of the following: J. D. Case, J. L. Cowing, W. P. Jay, J. H. Power, H. V. Logan, W. D. Root, O. M. Dale, W. O. Frazier, E. A. Frazier, Claude Cambern, J. C. Sexton, H. E. Daubenspeck, R. P. Havens, Mrs. C. H. Parsons, Mrs. B. W. Riley, B. W. Riley, Mrs. J. T. Borem, J. T. Arbuckle, Mrs. John Kennard, Sue M. Gregg, Rebecca D. Jordan, W. C. Culbertson, S. H. Fletcher, Rexie Vance, Albert L. Allen, John C. Wallace, Charles A. Moore, Will R. Taylor, C. H. Alger, Douglas Morris and Howard E. Barrett.

The $30,000 bond issue which was proposed by the city council, was for the purpose of remodeling the city building, retiring debts upon which money has been borrowed, to pay for a fire truck, and to meet expenses that will be necessary in street improvements this fall.

The remonstrance is in three sections, with the first declaring that the proposed issue should not be considered by the state board because the city has no authority or power under the laws of the state to issue bonds for any of the purposes set forth in the notice.

The second section declares that the notice given in the proceeding is null, void and insufficient for the reason that it does not state the net assessed value of all property. The third reason declares that the proposed improvements are not necessary, unwise and are excessive.

The city administration, in deciding upon the $30,000 bond issue, did so because of the condition of the city hall, which houses the fire department, and affords a meeting place for the councilmen.

The building is in a deplorable condition, and the councilmen decided that it could be put into shape without a complete rebuilding. The city's fire protection is away below normal, it is advocated, as evidenced in the large fire on January 25, and steps to remedy this weakness were taken.

One of the councilmen, when interviewed today, stated that the remonstrators will probably be faced with a larger bond issue, by the time that the thing has been put through the tax board. The building will be completely condemned from all angles, he said, which will make a new building at a cost of $75,000 or $100,000 probable, while as it was, the administration was attempting to save the taxpayers money, by working over the present building.

FOUGHT WITH POLICEMEN

Harry (Hip) Rainey Arrested On Public Intoxication Charge

Harry (Hip) Rainey, was arrested this morning about 3:30 o'clock near First and Main streets, on a charge of intoxication and for assault and battery on police officers. He was placed in jail, and will probably be given a hearing tonight in police court before Mayor Thomas.

According to the officers, Rainey was intoxicated and had made his way into a room on the third floor of the Grand hotel, and the officers were called. Police Chief Blackburn and Patrolman Havens encountered some difficulty, and several blows were exchanged before Rainey surrendered and was taken to jail.

NEVER MISSED A DAY

MISS VERA REYNOLDS

Miss Reynolds, who was graduated from the Rushville high school with the class of 1924, Tuesday night, has made a remarkable record in the common schools of Rush county, having completed the grades and high school course of twelve years in eleven years.

She also graduated with the distinction of never having missed a day of school, and never was tardy. She completed the four year high school course without taking an examination, having been exempted in all studies because of high grades.

Miss Reynolds is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Reynolds of Glenwood and attended the Glenwood grade schools, which she completed in seven years. She went to the Glenwood high school for two years and finished her high school course here. Miss Reynolds was awarded a gold medal when she graduated from the eighth grade for perfect attendance.

SAYS FEAR MUST FIRST BE ROUTED

Commencement Speaker Addresses
Largest Class and Big Crowd—
Supt Scholl Gives Statistics

"Cultivate good will and increase your knowledge and fear will leave your life," counseled Dr. Lewis A. Convis, pastor of the First Congregational church of Chicago, in addressing the graduating class of the Rushville high school, and a crowd that filled the auditorium of the Graham Annex school building, at the annual commencement exercises Tuesday night.

Dr. Convis spoke on "The Road to Happiness" and the thought of his address was that no happiness or success may be attained in the world until fear, manifesting itself in worry, superstition, jealousy, envy and hatred, has been eliminated entirely from the life of the individual.

Fifty-seven graduates, the largest class in the history of the Rushville high school, sat upon the stage. Two other members of the class will receive diplomas when they complete their work this summer.

The crowd at the commencement was also the largest on record, many people being compelled to stand up, and others were unable to gain admission to the auditorium.

At the conclusion of the address, diplomas were awarded to members of the class by J. H. Scholl, superintendent of schools. Musical numbers included selections by the high school choir.

Cash Prizes Awarded High School Boys In Essay Contest

Ryland Sherman, a Freshman, Awarded $5 in Gold For Best Composition Submitted on Choice of Two Subjects. Contest Conducted in Connection With Observance of Boys Week

Prize winners in the essay contest held in connection with the observance of Boys Week, May 4 to 10, were announced at the closing high school assembly Tuesday afternoon. Ryland Sherman, a freshman during the past year, won first—a $5 dollar gold piece—for his composition on the subject "My Kind of a Dad". Marland Alexander was given second—$3.00, and his subject was the same. Frank Green was awarded third prize—$2.00. The subject of his composition was, "What Home Should Mean to a Boy."

The winner of first prize is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sherman and the second place winner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander. Frank Green is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Green.

Two other boys competed. Robert Pitman wrote on "What Home Should Mean to a Boy" and James Carr on "My Kind of a Dad".

The $10.00 in cash prizes was given by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, which sponsored the Boys Week observance.

The three prize winning papers follow:

My Kind of a Dad
(By RYLAND SHERMAN)

There is more than just being a father of a boy, the boy and father should be very close pals and each know the others troubles. The greatest part of the fathers of today do not spend as much time with their boys as they should. Although they think as much of them they are too busy with their work, so they think, to stop for a couple of hours and roam with their boys through the woods or even take them skating or swimming, all of these any real boy wants to do. And if not given these chances he will possibly be a dream and lose his energy and in a few years he starts to go wrong and the fathers wonder what is the matter. It is all from neglect and lack of entertainment given by the father in the childhood of his son. On the other hand if the father is clean cut as a father should be and had given his boy a few hours each day the boy would grow in clean moral and spiritual ideas and make a good successful citizen and also have good health as a result of proper care of his body, when he was under

BUSINESS WILL HONOR SCUDDER

Stores and Offices will be Closed
During Funeral of Former Mayor and City Councilman

WILL BE THURSDAY, 2:30 P. M.

Death Follows Four Years of Ill Health and Valiant Battle For Life—Lived Here 38 Years

Funeral services for Rudolph F. Scudder, age sixty-three years, who died at his home, 402 West Second street, Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, will be held at the late residence Thursday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock. Burial will be in East Hill cemetery.

On account of Mr. Scudder having been prominently identified with the business interests of the city for almost four decades, stores and offices will be closed and business will be generally suspended during the hour of the funeral.

Mr. Scudder had been in failing health for four years. He made the race for the republican nomination for mayor in the primary May 3, 1921, against a field of four other candidates, when he was scarcely fit physically to give any energy to public business.

But his business judgment was valued so highly that his friends urged him to be a candidate, and he was nominated by a plurality of 57 votes. He was defeated at the election November 8, 1921, by mayor Walter R. Thomas, by 138 votes, and soon afterwards his illness became so critical that he had to undergo an operation.

Since that time, Mr. Scudder had not been able to devote scarcely any time to his business, but he had been fighting valiantly for his life. He lay in a hospital in Detroit for several months and returned home very much encouraged over his condition, but never regained his health.

Mr. Scudder was born January 19, 1861, on a farm near Hamilton, Ohio, and was reared there. He came to Rushville thirty-eight years ago as a fire insurance agent and remained in that business all of his life. He was an adjuster for fire insurance companies for many years.

The deceased served several terms as a member of the school board and for many years was a director of the Rushville Co-operative Telephone company, in addition to serving two terms of four years each as city councilman and part of a term as mayor.

He was always interested in the improvement of Rushville and sacrificed his time and money for the industrial betterment of the city.

During the earlier years of his business career, Mr. Scudder acted as secretary of the Rushville Com-

JURY FINDS FOR YOUNG WOMAN

Deliberates 20 Minutes in Case of
State Ex Rel Samantha Kannel
Against Fred Lucas

FINAL DECISION WITH COURT

Divorce Epidemic Sweeps Circuit
Court. Complaints Being Filed by Man and Woman

The jury in the circuit court this afternoon, in the case of the State, ex rel Samantha Kannel against Fred Lucas, a paternity proceeding, found for the plaintiff against the defendant, after a twenty minute deliberation.

Judge Sparks told the defendant to appear Saturday, when the court would announce the sum of money that is to be paid for the permanent support of the child. The case today before the jury was to decide whether the defendant was the father of the child, and it is up to the court to decide on the compensation.

Upon default to pay the compensation, the defendant will be sent to jail for the amount of money involved, according to the state statutes.

The jury that was hearing the case today, consisted of Mike Lozett, O. M. Offut, Guy Gordon, Mull Wallace, C. M. George, James Mercer, Robert Humphrey, Curtis Thrall, Elmer Morris, John E. Harrison, O. M. Siler and John Jordan.

Several witnesses were used in the case, with Samantha Kannel, the prosecuting witness, being the first on the stand, in which she accused the defendant.

A divorce epidemic is sweeping the circuit court, as two more complaints were filed today, making several suits filed in recent days.

Chase S. Floyd says his wife threw his clothes out of the window, mistreated him by calling him names, and prevents him from removing his portion of the furniture. The complaint says that he and Daisy Floyd were married in November 1922 and separated May 22, 1924.

They reside at 415 North Arthur street, and it will be recalled that on the day of the alleged separation, the fire department was summoned by mistake when the police was wanted to quell a family quarrel over the removal of a player piano.

The plaintiff alleges that the piano is his property and that he has a right to it. He has filed an injunction against him wife for damaging the piano, and the court will hear the evidence on the piano question Saturday morning.

Fannie M. Hurst has sued Alba Hurst, prominent Walker township people, alleging that they are unable to agree after 33 years of married life. They were married in 1891 and separated May 25.

Mrs. Hurst wants a divorce, restraining order, alimony and settlement of property rights. She charges that her husband had a bad temper, was quarrelsome and continually nagged at the plaintiff. She also says that he was a user of intoxicating liquor and that when under the influence of liquor, he mistreated her. She also says that he struck her, and pulled her over the ground.

She alleges in her complaint that she owns the 110 acre farm where

REMONSTRANCE IS FILED

Taxpayers Seek to Stop Building of James Shannahan Road

A remonstrance against the James Shannahan et. al road, in northwest Rushville township, has been filed in the county auditor's office and has been certified to the state board of tax commissioners, which will pass on it. The remonstrance contains the signatures of 75 taxpayers.

The contract for building the road was let to Winslow and Hooten at the May meeting of the board of commissioners for $23,500 and the bonds for $24,800, to pay the expenses of building the road, have been issued.

The remonstrators allege the road is not needed and the expense entailed is out of proportion to the benefits.

CALLED TO TESTIFY IN AUTO THEFT CASE

Sheriff Hunt and Six New Salem
Men go to Vincennes as Witnesses
Against Negroes

CAUGHT IN THIS COUNTY

Sheriff S. L. Hunt of this city, and a party of six New Salem men, including Dr. H. P. Metcalf, Jake Perkins and others, left at noon today in an automobile for Vincennes where they were summoned as witnesses in the case against three colored men, who were arrested several weeks ago at New Salem.

The trio, it will be recalled, had entered the shop of a New Salem merchant for something to eat, and they were detected by Dr. Metcalf. It developed, after their arrest, that the machine had been stolen from Vincennes.

The three men were captured by the citizens of New Salem, and brought to jail here. The officers of Vincennes came here for them, and the case is to be heard Thursday in the courts. The local men were wanted as witnesses.

Sheriff Hunt will remain until after the case has been decided, and if all three are not convicted, he was prepared to serve them with a warrant to return them to jail here for trial on a burglary charge.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY IN COURT

Harry Schmalzel and Robert Goodin
Arraigned at Connersville

Harry Schmalzel of this city, who was held in jail at Connersville on a charge of issuing a fraudulent check, was arraigned today at noon before Judge Himelick, and entered a plea of not guilty. He provided bond in the sum of $1,000, and was released and his case will be set for trial later.

A man giving his name as Robert Goodin of Rushville was arrested here and returned to Connersville to answer to a charge of removing mortgage property from the county. He also pleaded not guilty, and was released on $300 bond. The charge alleged that Goodin took an automobile from that city, without permission of persons who held a mortgage on it.

PARADE TO MOVE AT 9:00 A. M.

Flowers for Decorating Graves
Wanted by 8 A. M.—Decorating of Homes and Stores Urged.

The programs for the morning and afternoon exercises, which will be held here Friday, in observance of Memorial Day, were announced today.

The morning program will begin with a parade, leaving the court house at nine o'clock, which will move to East Hill cemetery, where exercises will be conducted at the Soldiers' monument, at the water's edge, in memory of the nation's sailors' dead, on the American Legion Lot and on the hillside overlooking the stream passing through the cemetery.

The main program will be given on the hillside, and the main address at that time will be delivered by Paul B. McNutt, ex-service man and head of the Indiana University law department, who is now a colonel in the reserve officers corps. Mr. McNutt is a very talented young man and a very eloquent address is assured.

A special appeal was made today by the American Legion, which co-operated with other patriotic organizations in arranging for observance for residents of the city to decorate their homes, and for business men to decorate their stores. The Legion is especially anxious that Memorial Day be properly observed this year in a true spirit of reverence for those who have died for their country.

There will also be a program in the afternoon at the court house assembly room, in charge of patriotic organizations, and the Rev. L. E. Brown of the Main Street Christian church will deliver the address.

It is urged that all who can provide flowers, have them at the sheriff's office on the lower floor of the court house by eight o'clock Friday morning, so that they may be made up into bouquets for decorating the graves of soldiers.

It is desired that ex-service men, march in the parade to the cemetery and that they wear their uniforms. Automobiles will be provided for G. A. R. veterans, disabled veterans of other wars and women's patriotic organizations. School children will march in the parade, carrying flags.

The program for the morning ceremony will be as follows:

ABANDONED MACHINE FOUND

Police Notified Owner Will Call For Car Located Here

A stolen automobile has been recovered by the police of this city, according to Orin Blackburn, police chief, who stated that the owners lived in Indianapolis. The machine was stolen from that city Sunday and driven here, and abandoned in Hannah street.

People living in that vicinity noticed the machine for a few days, and then called the police. This morning word was received from Indianapolis, that the owner would be here for it, and the announcement stated that a liberal reward was posted for the recovery of the car.

marsh's office and the state building inspector, it was said, have more authority than the tax board, and will be used as witnesses to compel the complete destruction of the building, and will force the issue for an entirely new building.

One of the councilmen stated that it appeared to be a question of a "grudge" against the city administration, existing in the vicinity of Main and Fifth streets. About a year ago these people, he said, had petitioned the council for a fire alarm box, and urged better fire protection in that vicinity of Main and Fifth street, and the petition was deferred.

The present city hall is overrun with bed bugs and efforts in the past have failed to get rid of them. One of the councilmen stated today that not a single one of the persons who had signed the remonstrance would even step inside of the bedroom at the fire station, yet they expect six firemen to remain on duty under such conditions.

No other building in the business district or fire limits, presents a greater fire hazard than the city hall. No other building in the business district is permitted to store hay, straw and other combustible material, it is pointed out. No other building in the business district is permitted to house a manure bin, which with strong odors on warm damp days spreads over an area of more than a block. With these conditions existing, one of the councilmen stated that all of the agencies of the state that were for the protection of health, safety and protection of property, would force the issue with the remonstrators to the limit.

The Dowser Who Flivvered!

MYSTERIOUSLY guided by the behavior of a willow wand, sometimes a "dowser" — the water-wizard—tells where to dig a well which really yields water. Then much ado is made over the feat. But who ever hears similar noise about the dry holes, dug when the dowser flivvered?

Now and then, possibly, it just happens that people buy wisely without heed to advertisements. But the chances are against any one having such luck!

It does not "just happen" that advertised values are invariably genuine buying opportunities. They must be, because they are openly offered to everyone who reads about them.

Advertised value must be true value. Else it could not keep on being advertised to a public so keen and critical as this public of ours.

Read the advertisements

mental world, it wields its greatest havoc.

"Fear paralyzes progress. Men risk their lives because fear dominates their mental equipment. Fear in the mental world causes superstition. There is not a person in the house, including the speaker, who has not his pet superstition."

"When fear passes from the mental to the spiritual world, it causes the greatest disaster," Dr. Convis asserted. "Jealousy and envy and worry are all manifestations of fear. Worry is thinking in circles and it is due to being afraid of something that never happens. We build thousands of bridges every day that we never cross. We will never conquer disease until we overcome fear and cease to worry."

Dr. Convis declared that the remedy for fear is good will and education. He asked permission to translate the Bible quotation, "Perfect love casts out fear," to "perfect good will casts out fear," because love has so many meanings and expresses so many emotions.

"If we have good will toward our neighbors, life and God, there can be no envy, jealousy, hatred and worry," he said.

Dr. Convis thanked God for the 4,000 miles of undefended border between Canada and the United States adding, "God keep America with good will towards all nations and we never need fear anyone."

"When you know, you cease to be afraid," the speaker asserted, in setting forth that fear is routed by education. He said that one hour a day settles the fate of every individual. Dr. Convis declared 7 p. m. was the hour—when every person decides how the evening will be spent. Whether it is spent profitably or wasted away, depends whether our lives will be progressive or stagnant, Dr. Convis said.

Before presenting the diplomas, Supt. Scholl pointed out that 671 pupils had been graduated from the Rushville high school in the past twenty years and that 69½ percent of them had gone to school of higher education.

"The true test of any school is not its buildings or equipment, but whether its pupils seek higher education after completing its course," said Supt. Scholl. "It means that pupils have been imbued by their teachers to seek a higher education, which is the true goal of a good school."

Continuing with the statistics, Supt. Scholl stated that 25 percent of the graduates in the last 20 years had finished a four-year college course and that 134 of the high school graduates in that time had taught school or are now teaching. Fifty-one percent have married, he asserted, in answering the charge that higher education tends to decrease marriage. The superintendent also recalled that a representative of the Retherford family had been in every high school graduating class since the high school was organized in 1869.

mercial club and took an energetic interest in everything pertaining to the betterment of Rushville.

He was first elected councilman-at-large on November 4, 1913 by a plurality of 307 votes and was re-elected November 6, 1917 by a plurality of 137. Mr. Scudder was known as the watchdog of the city treasurer because he was always alert at any extravagance and was instrumental in keeping Rushville's tax rates down to the minimum. He kept a close check on the city's accounts and insisted on a business-like management of the water and light plant.

When the late Mayor A. B. Irvin died early in 1921, Mr. Scudder was appointed to fill out the unexpired term and later became a candidate for and won the republican nomination.

The deceased was an active member of St. Paul's M. E. church and the Knights of Pythias, Elks and Red Men lodges. He was also one of the originators of the Rushville Social club and served as its treasurer for many years.

Mrs. Scudder died ten years ago. Mr. Scudder is survived by his daughter, Miss Helen Scudder, two sisters, Mrs. J. C. McCormick of Crawfordsville, Ind., and Mrs. C. A. Kuhns of Dayton Ohio, and one half-brother, Paul Scudder of Hamilton Ohio.

The Community's Loss

The death of Rudolph F. Scudder, former mayor and city councilman, is a great loss to the community, for he was a man whose devotion to public duty should serve as an inspiration to others less inspired.

The hour was never too late for him to serve the community in which he lived. Much precious time that could have been devoted to his own business, he spent in looking after the business of all the people. Not alone his time, but his money was used for the industrial betterment of Rushville, and many of the things that the community now enjoys may be attributed to his tireless energy and ambition to see his home city progress.

Mr. Scudder's life is a record of public service, at the sacrifice of his own business, his own welfare and his health. As a member of the school board, as an officer of commercial and social organizations, as a director of the Rushville Co-operative Telephone company—a community enterprise—and as a public servant elected by the people, his career stands out as a notable example of community service that should ever be held up before younger men, who may be selfishly inclined and unwilling to spare any of their time for the welfare of others.

Taxpayers Won't Forget

Regardless of what Congress may do with bills that President Coolidge returns to the Capitol without approval, the President has made his record on them, which the taxpayers will not forget. When the overwhelming votes for Mr. Coolidge were cast in the primaries the people had clearly in mind his repeated declarations in favor of economy. It was on the basis of those declarations that he has won such phenomenal popularity. In vetoing extra-budget bills, Mr. Coolidge has merely translated into action the principles that he has so frequently voiced. The voters have seen that their trust was not misplaced, and will rally to his support in increasing numbers next November.

Naval Renovation

The chairman of the naval affairs committee in the lower house of congress announces that he will soon ask an appropriation of $150,000,000 to start work on the naval building program recently approved by his committee. The plan calls for the construction of eight 10,000-ton cruisers, the modernization of six battleships, and the building of six river gunboats for patrol work in Chinese waters. It was the intention to spread the work over a period of five or six years, but the revelation of the relative deficiency of the United States navy in maintaining the 5-5-3 ratio of the Washington armaments treaty has led to the move ment to begin construction at an earlier date.

FOREWARNED IS FOREARMED

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The action of Congress in over-riding the president's veto on the bonus is believed to have made more certain a veto on the tax bill when it is finally submitted to the White House.

For one thing, enactment of the bonus makes necessary the raising of $144,000,000 in taxes for 1925 which would not have been needed had the presidential veto stood.

The rates in the revenue bill, as it finally will be presented, will be substantially the Democratic rates, which both Mellon and Coolidge have opposed as unscientific and inadequate. The jamming through of the bonus, therefore, against his wishes and advice, gives the president a plausible basis for rejecting the tax bill on the ground the new rates will not raise enough cash to meet other necessary expenses of the government and also provide the money for the bonus on which Congress insists.

MORE than the expense of the bonus, however, is troubling administration chiefs, with respect to the new revenue measure.

There is a growing doubt as to the permanence of the present national income. With business prosperous, wages and salaries high, a reduced rate on income taxes might easily be possible, even after providing for a bonus.

But there has developed during the past two months a distinct slowing up in many lines of industry. In some there has been an actual recession. This may mean merely that business proposes to move cautiously, as is often the case during presidential campaign years, or it may mean that we are approaching another definite step of readjustment in the process of getting back to pre-war normalcy.

Rushville Boy Will be Among Butler College Track Men to Take Part in Trials

AT ANN ARBOR THIS WEEK

Former High School Sprinter Will Likely Run the Mile And The Half-Mile

Herman Phillips of this city, who has been making a record as a sprinter at Butler college, where he is a Freshman, will be among the Indiana college stars who will take part in the Olympic trials at Ann Arbor Friday and Saturday.

Pat Page, director of Athletics at Butler, has announced that he will send Doolittle, star distance man; Gray, dash man, and Phillips, the Rushville freshman half-mile and miler, Griggs, who tied the state record in the high hurdles, threw the discus better than 133 feet and put the shot 42 feet 6 inches three times in a row at South Bend, Saturday, will be busy playing baseball, else he, too, would accompany the Bulldog stars.

Gray's sensational comeback in the 220 after losing the 100-yard dash in the state meet was a worthy bit of endeavor on the part of the frail flash from Butler. He ran half a yard ahead of Barr of Notre Dame all the way and probably will give the dash men at Michigan something to worry about.

Eddie O'Connor, coach at Purdue, probably will send Spradling, his half-mile wonder, to Michigan, and Wabash will have Johnson to run the distance events. Johnson deserves great credit for the pluck he displayed in taking both the mile and two-mile from Doolittle, of Butler, Saturday, and for this reason he will be watched at Michigan.

Paul Jones, of DePauw, may not compete. The athletic authorities at DePauw have held out until the Boston trials, which are said to be final.

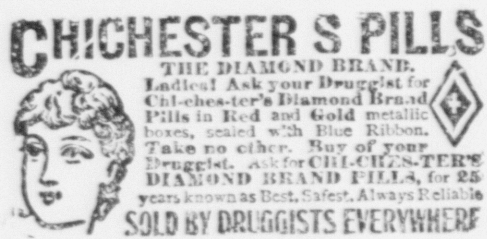

Rockne will send Layden and Barr for the dashes; Oberst for the javelin; Captain Paul Kennedy, for the mile, and Duke Walsh for the quarter. It is possible that Milbauer, who won the shotput Saturday, also may make the trip. Tob Lieb, also of Notre Dame, will represent the I. A. C. in the discus.

Famous athletic club athletes will be there to establish a few world's records, the officials all will dress alike, the program will begin with the "Star-Spangled Banner" and the events will be at Olympic distances.

TWO I. U. WRESTLERS
WILL MEET TRYOUTS

Omar Held and Ralph Wilson, Grapplers, Are in New York Ready For Olympic Tests

HAVE BEEN WELL TRAINED

Bloomington, Ind., May 28—Proof that the Hoosier state can produce national championship wrestlers, as well as western Conference victors, rests with Omar Held and Ralph Wilson, sturdied of the Indiana university grapplers, who are in New York city, ready to pit their strength against wrestlers of the nation Tuesday and Wednesday in an attempt to capture places on the American Olympic team.

The two men on whom Indiana university is staking its chances of being represented on the Olympic team have conquered the wrestlers of the western Conference in the 175-pound class. Held won his Big Ten title two years ago and Wilson captured his championship this year.

For four weeks the Indiana mat kings have gone through a daily strenuous program of running two miles, performing on gymnastic apparatus, taking rope exercises and wrestling other members of the Big Ten championship I. U. team to put themselves in trim for the final Olympic tryouts. Ten minute matches in New York will determine whether they will capture national honors. Wilson is an Evansville student and Held hails from Lamar, Ind.

KEEPING ONE EYE ON THE SCOREBOARD

The Boston Braves moved up into fifth place in the National League race, displacing the Cardinals by taking a double header from the Phillies 5 to 4 and 10 to 6.

Timely hitting enabled the Pittsburgh Pirates to take a ten inning contest from the Cubs 5 to 4.

Bert Cole won his first game of the season and the Detroit Tigers took third place from the Browns by a 5 to 4 victory.

Uhl's pitching was better than that of three Sox twirlers and Cleveland beat Chicago 7 to 2.

The Reds and Cards divided a twin bill, St. Louis taking their 4 to 3 and the Reds winning 3 to 1. A fan fell dead after Daubert hit a homer in the second game.

Newport—An undelivered letter he wrote on July 21, 1914 to a man in New York City has just been returned to John Wright. Postoffice officials were unable to locate the address after a 10-year search.

West Lafayette—Burglars visited the Star and Crescent Fraternity house while members slumbered and took twelve watches, a number of fountain pens and all the cash to be found. The loot totalled about $400.

HAS A COMEBACK

Team That Finished Last in 1923 is Getting Off Fast Start for Pennant Now

WINS 17 OUT OF 21 GAMES

Is Tied for First Place And Furnishing the Real Thrill in American League Race

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, May 28—With 17 victories in their last 21 games, the eighth place Boston Red Sox of 1923 are now tied with the Yanks for first place in the American League pennant race. The Red Sox not only are carrying all the fight to the world's champions, but they are furnishing the main excitement in the major leagues.

Bobby Quinn and Lee Fohl were expected to make some improvement in the Red Sox when the club was rescued from Harry Frazee. Fohl made the Cleveland Indian outfit that won the pennant for Tris Speaker and built up the St. Louis Browns that are now doing so well for George Sisler. The best builder, however, must have material and few critics thought that he would find the stuff around the wrecked Red Sox club to develop a first division team.

Some of the smart experts now laugh at the serious mention of the Red Sox and predict that the club is going away over its head and is due for a good blow.

The Browns are also playing good ball and are within striking distance of the lead. Like the Red Sox the Browns have been hitting hard, playing smart aggressive baseball and getting good pitching. Little else is needed.

The Yankees have been in a slump that is not of their own making. The champions have been playing in a lot of hard luck and they have not been guilty of any bad baseball. Being a veteran club it will work better when the weather gets warmer.

After making a most disastrous trip through the west, the Giants found themselves in Cincinnati and regained the National League lead by winning three out of four games from the contending Ohio team. The Reds have been having terrible luck however. The team is shot by injuries and it also has been set back by bad weather. As soon as Roush and Daubert start hitting and when some of the cripples can be put back in the game, the Reds are bound to do better.

The Chicago Cubs are playing the best ball in the National League and the Brooklyn Robins are pulling a surprise by fighting in the first division.

Muncie—Police believe they discovered the source of supply of Anderson and Muncie bootleggers when they raided a farm near here and discovered a 100-gallon still. Seventy-five gallons of "mule" was seized.

Hartford City—Frank M. Jones, highway superintendent resigned after charges of misconduct in office had been filed against him. The charges were withdrawn following resignation.

"The Masquerader," at Castle

Crazed by love for a woman whom he could claim as his wife but from whom he was barred as completely as if she were continents apart, is a part of the plot presented by "The Masquerader," the attraction at the Castle theatre today and Thursday.

The story depicts the struggle of two men, so close in resemblance that the wife of one cannot tell them apart. And the bachelor, who recognizes in her the one woman in the world he could love, finds himself at bay because of the sense of honor that he cannot still.

Seldom has a theme of similar interest been presented on the screen. "The Masquerader" is an established success upon the stage. Gay Bates Post, who created the dual title role, has taken his part again for the picture which is produced by Richard Walton Tully.

Trained by long experience the star gives an intimate study of the characteristics of the two men; one a leader gone astray, and the other an impeccable genius in impoverished circumstances. A cast of excellent interpreters the supporting parts.

Among those whose histrionic ability has been enlisted in the making of this feature are Ruth Sinclair, Edward M. Kimball, Herbert Standing, Lawton Batt, Marcia Manon, Barbara Tennant and Kenneth Gibson.

Shelbyville—St. Vincent's Church, which was destroyed by fire April 4, is to be rebuilt at a cost of $60,000.

Compares Old and New Players

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, May 28—Late in each spring, when a fair test has been applied to all the young phenom graduates to the major leagues, both sides line up for the argument: "Are the new ball players as good as they were ten or fifteen years ago?"

Taking a squint at the early batting, pitching and fielding averages, the side supporting the positive argument haven't much material to convince the veterans, who like to insist that these are poor days on all fields of sport compared to the times that have gone.

Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Eddie Collins, Everett Scott, Zach Wheat, Grover Alexander, Walter Johnson, Jack Quinn, Jack Fournier and Jake Daubert, all ten of fifteen year men and better, are still going strong enough to set the pace and to keep youngsters out of their jobs.

With few exceptions, the best players who can be held up as examples of the modern game against the old game are themselves veterans as ball players are judged.

Roush, Sisler, Hornsby, Heilman, Williams, Ruth, Schalk, Dugan, Bancroft, Bigbee and many other who might be held up for favorable comparison with the old stars are really veterans and could be held up themselves as examples to support the argument that the new players are not as good as the old ones.

Taking the liberty of assuming that modern times can be stretched back five years, there is no doubt that the old time days never saw a hitter to compare with Babe Ruth. The Babe offers one positive argument in himself that at least one type of baseball is better today than it was ten or twenty years ago.

As Ruth revolutionized the science and strategy of baseball by making of it a slugging game, so he reduced the possibility of developing players of today that could compare to old stars by eliminating practically all of the science at which the old timers excelled.

It must be admitted, perhaps, that there has been no team since the days of the old Baltimore. Orioles that could compare to that great team. The game that the Orioles originated and perfected is still being followed by most of the successful managers of today.

Frank Frisch, second baseman for the New York Giants, perhaps is the best young player developed in the past five years. But he has yet to attain the class that will cause old timers to remark: "Remember how Eddie Collins —"

Rogers Hornsby, beyond all doubt is one of the outstanding players of the modern school, but he is not only inferior to Collins as an all-around ball player, but is slipping behind Frisch as a player of general ability.

George Sisler, the perfect ball player, is another exceptional product of the modern times. There is nothing that Sisler cannot do well and, in addition to being a brilliant individual star, he is a great team worker and is showing the talent of a fine manager.

his father's care. Also the father should at all times encourage all undertakings worthy of advancement. The majority of the fathers of today think more of the dollar than they do of making the very best citizen of them.

My idea of an ideal father is one who at all times knows the troubles and whereabouts of his boy. And at least spends an hour each day with him in some sport. Whenever this becomes practiced in more American homes the standards of the boy will be raised. And also the boy will have pride enough to keep himself physically clean and mentally stronger than they are. And last of all every father if he be a man at all should discourage the use of tobacco and liquors among the boys.

My Kind of a Dad

(MARLAND ALEXANDER)

The kind of a Dad all true American boys love is the one that they can call Dad without the fear of being corrected for not saying "father". Some boys do call their dads, papa and father, but I do not believe that they get near the cheerfulness or respect of answer as the one who says, "Hey Dad, come here."

Most boys have dads, wonderful dads. I can remember the time when I was just a little fellow, at the age when nature takes hold of you and wants you to see, run into or imagine the most wonderful things. And Dad when evening came, no matter how tired he was, would take me on his lap and tell some of the greatest bear and elephant stories you ever heard. I believed them too because Dad was my big boss and I thought surely he knew everything and never went wrong in any of them.

I can remember when I first started to school, the way Dad told me how to take care of myself and sometimes he would wrestle and box with me, not minding the scoldings that mother always gave. Dad was so good to me. He would let me come over to the elevator and play in big wheat bins or let me try to weigh myself on the big scales. I always thought I was by myself on these exploits but dad I found afterwards, always had a watchful eye on me, because he was afraid I would get hurt or get into some mischief. If I got into some mischief he would send me home and tend to me afterwards, but if I was good—a dimes worth of candy was my reward.

Dad was my companion when ever I wished to go, he would take me swimming and fishing and when riding in the automobile he would let me set on his lap and guide the machine. This was indeed a great honor for none of the other boys got to do it and even mother didn't do it. When I was sick Dad was with me all the time he could spare and would give me pennies and nickels to take medicine that tasted so bad. The best cure Dad ever gave me though was by telling me that a circus was coming to town and a promise to get to go if I took my medicine. I took my medicine and in return dad and I went to the parade and circus both.

Now I am at the age where I can reason for myself and take care of myself but I owe all of my foundation to Dad. Probably upon reading this you would think I do not love my mother. My mother is all the world to me but I always go to her for sympathy or for the purpose of having her ask Dad for something I'm afraid he wouldn't give me. But I say to both—I love them with all my heart but here I have described my kind of a Dad—my own Dad.

What Home Should Mean to a Boy

(By FRANK GREEN)

The home of a boy should not be merely a place to eat and sleep. The home is or should be a fellows' "hang out", and not some public building or loafing joint.

It should be to a boy as a haven or port is to a ship in a storm. Every boy should have an interest in his home. He ought to work around the house and do little things for the betterment of it.

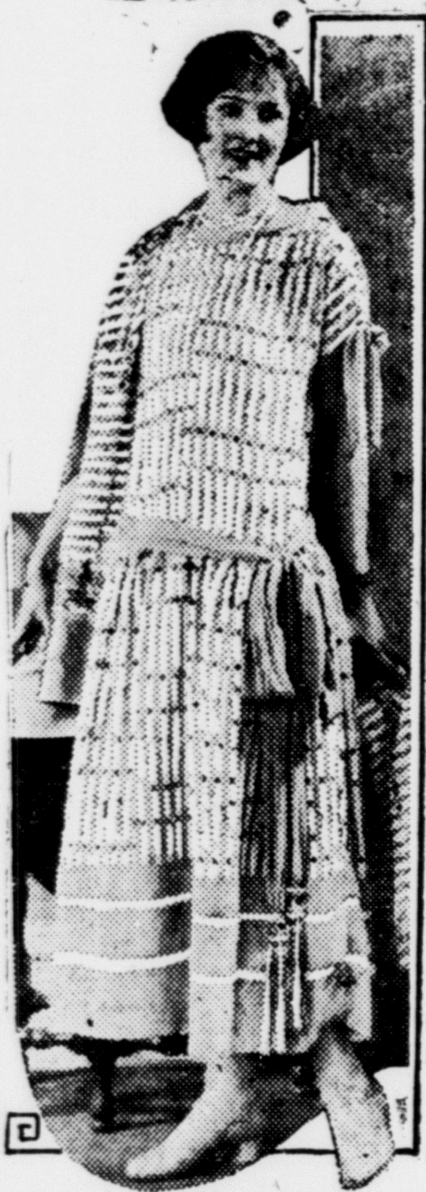

If a boy is really interested in his home, he can mow the lawns and clean the yard. I say to every mother and father, give your boy his regular amount of work and thereby stimulate an interest in the boy to work around home.

Home should mean to a boy a place where there is chores to do, a place where there is happiness, love and affection in the air and last but not least a place of refuge where a mother and father awaits and hopes.

Since the earliest times man has built for himself a cave, a rude structure, or a place to which he might return in times of danger or when he pleased and likewise is a home to a boy.

In the "Federal Times", a castle was to the people a place of safety from which they went forth to work

TO HAVE FROCK FOR REVERY OCCASION QUITE ESSENTIAL

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of the U. P.)
(Written for United Press)

New York, N. Y., May 28—To have a frock for every occasion is quite an essential thing these days. One needs morning frocks, afternoon frocks, beach frocks, tea frocks and frocks for various other occasions. The woman who is content to make one frock do for all occasions is no longer seen in the cities where ready made garments sell so cheaply.

The women of limited means often find the task of being appropriately gowned for all occasions a difficult one. Therefore, it is the woman, who is clever at remodeling last year's gowns who always appears well dressed in spite of a meagre pocket-book. Making over clothes is an art in itself. It is more difficult to remodel an old gown than to make a new one.

There are many ways, however, to remodel last year's frocks so that they will bear the earmarks of 1924. We will take the typical frock of last spring and summer for instance. These frocks had the low-blooused waistline made on an elastic band. And we all know, the elastic waistband is no longer used on the smarter gowns of this season since most gowns are devoid of waistline, being straight-lined models. By removing the elastic band from an old frock, and reducing the width of the skirt by taking in the side seams, one has the invariable silhouette of today.

If the straight chemise effect is too severe, a bow of self material or chiffon can be attached at one side of the gown, giving the side-trimming effect which is in vogue. Those who prefer a semblance of waistline may use a band of ribbon or self material to form a narrow girle effect. Often we find that the ready-made frocks has been pieced together at the elastic waistline. In this case one may insert a narrow band of beading or embroidery at the waistline. Where fullness is used in the skirt, it must be confined over the hips as the front and back of all frocks are flat this year.

The panel frock of last year is also passed, but taking off panels is a very simple matter and the material used in the panels may be utilized elsewhere on the frock. If the panels are sufficiently wide they may be added to the back of the frock to give the waistlength cape effect. Narrow panels may be joined together with even lace to insure width for the capelet. Again, one may sew the panel material together and have it pleated to produce a cape. There is another way panels may be used to trim a frock. By using them in band form about the skirt just below the knees, one has the new bottom-trim effect. Many of the latest frocks have flaring flounces at the bottom of the skirt. A straight-line frock can have a flounce of contrasting material added below the knees to give the flounce effect. In fact, many of the new figured silk gowns have wide flounces of taffeta in solid color finishing the bottom of the skirt.

The black frock can be vastly altered by applying several layers of crepe de chene of contrasting colors at the hem. By simply stitching three narrow widths of contrasting colors together and adding them to the hem one has a 1924 frock.

Then, as to the evening frock!

"Fair and Sunny"

Miss Edna Pilkington is England's only woman weather forecaster, succeeding her mother at Buxton, Derbyshire, station.

There are so many ways of giving the faded evening frock a new lease on life! By using ostrich or marabou bonding about the hem, on scarf ends, etc., one has one of the latest frocks. Then again, the frock of last season may be remodeled by simply using row after row of dyed lace or ruffles upon the skirt. Fluffy, ruffled frocks are very much in vogue for slender figures and almost any frock can be turned into this class. Even by using a layer of pleated chiffon on the skirt, one has a new garment. Gowns of the tailored type can be remodeled by using the front trimming effects which are so popular today. This is achieved by means of an embroidered band which extends from neckline to hem. On either side of the narrow embroidery band are tiny ruffles of shirred lace. One may also use the button trimming down the front of the semi-tailored frock. In this case a row of crystal or pearl buttons extends from neck to hem with a narrow lace or net edging at either side of the buttons, running the length of the frock. The Eaton collar and bow tie usually accompany a dress of this sort.

ELECTION LAWS NEED A CHANGE

George Healey, Clerk of State Board of Election Commissioners, Urges New Laws

TWO FAULTY STATUTES

Primary Election Should be Abolished and Absent Voter's Law Changed, is His Stand

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28—The next state legislature should abolish the primary system and take drastic steps to safeguard from fraud the present absent voters' law, in the opinion of Col. George Healey, clerk of the state board of election commissioners.

These recommendations come from Col. Healey after a careful study of the operation of the primary and absent voters laws.

"To speak entirely of my opinion and not to commit in any manner the members of the board, with whom I have not discussed the matter," said Colonel Healey, "I feel certain that the primary law should be repealed and the absent voter law safeguarded from fraud.

Continuing, he said: "While the information will not be available as to the cost of the primary of May 6th until after the various Boards of county commissioners of the state have held their June session, and the reports asked for have been sent in to the state board of election commissioners, the volume of the expense will be large and it contributes materially to the tax burden without bringing any recompensing advantage to the people of the state.

"The ideals of nomination which the advocates of the direct primary hold certain to result have not ensued and it is easily observed by any person who makes only a cursory study of the matter that the primary is subjected to all of the bad influences that were changed against the convention method of nomination.

"The conventions cost the state nothing; the primaries cost many thousands of dollars. Conventions were generally composed of delegates were chosen by electors who could gather in mass and make their selections with a better discrimination than can be exercised with the ballot.

"It is doubtful if half of the voters in Indianapolis knew what delegates on their ballot would support their candidate for Governor if the nomination went to the convention, and the time allotted the voter was so short in some precincts that the ballot could not be marked if the voter knew just who he wanted to vote for. The result was that the number of votes cast for delegates constituted only a fraction of the vote cast for governor.

"I believe it is as safe to trust to the judgment of delegates selected by mass convention as to the electors primarily, for often the delegates will secure nearer the correct estimate of candidates than will the voters at large.

"The primary has been given a thorough trial and has been denounced by leaders of both of the major parties, but its repeal has been thwarted by a fear that it was really a popular measure.

"The party that has the courage to abolish it will be doing a very useful service to the taxpayers and at no sacrifice to the quality of party candidates."

Turning to the "absent voter" law, Col. Healey said there is no doubt that extensive frauds are committed by unscrupulous political agents who solicit voters to remain at home on the claim of illness or to leave the county, and then get the ballots and vote them as they please.

"The mere matter of making the affidavit for the ballot and then the affidavit which goes on the back of the envelope in which the ballot is enclosed is very simple, provided the officer administering the oath is in on the deal," he said. "In this way, votes can be purchased with the full knowledge of the buyer that the voter has delivered what he has paid for.

"The wide disparity of use of (absent voter) privilege indicates one of two things. Either there is extensive fraud in some counties where the percent of the use is large, or many who are entitled to vote in this manner in other counties fail to take advantage of the opportunity, for the percent of "absent" used varies from six-tenths of one percent in Lake county to 13 percent in Cass county.

"In Marion county in the 1922 general election, little more than 2 percent of the vote cast was by "absent" voters. There were more than 91,000 votes cast in Marion county and of these 2,174 were by "absent" voters. Cass county has only about 16 percent of the vote of Marion county and yet it used 2,161 absent voters on only about 13 county.

"Allen county used 2 percent, Vigo county 4 percent, Steuben county less than 2 percent, Lagrange county 3 percent. There were many in the class ranging less than 5 percent, but a number of counties used somewhat more. Miami and Hendricks each used 9 percent, Warrick and Fountain each used 10 percent, Johnson used over 11 percent and Martin used 12 percent.

"Imagine from 5 to 13 percent of the qualified voters of a county either being confined to their homes by sickness or the infirmities of age unavoidably absent from the county on election day. And imagine the tax on notary publics authorized to administer oaths to take care of all the jurats necessary to handle this great army of 'absent' voters.

"Martin county cast less than 5,000 votes and has 677 to vote by absent ballot. Out of every eight or nine voters one, was either sick or away from home. Dubois county, adjoining Martin, cast 1500 more votes but used only 354 absent ballots.

Other counties adjoining Martin with much larger voting population used vastly less absent voter ballots. "No investigation has been conducted in the state to determine the extent of frauds practiced, but the board has learned that some county clerks have hired assistants to distribute and administer oaths and carry the ballots back to the clerk's office. All of this is illegal and should be vigorously prosecuted. However, it would seem that unless the provisions of the law can be so rigidly safeguarded as to prevent fraud it would be better to annul it along with the primary.

"Another and very necessary correction to the law is to provide a greater lapse of time prior to the election to the filing of new party tickets. At present tickets can be filled up to twenty days before the election the county clerks must call on the state board of election commissioners for absent voter ballots. It is thus possible for the absent voter ballots to be secured and distributed and then another ticket be filed.

"A further economy would result if all the supplies for the election were furnished by the state instead of each county getting its own from the county contractor. This would provide uniformity, void expensive duplication and there would be no possibility of the supplies being furnished and paid for in excess of the need. The state board collects the information on which the ballots are furnished and could at the same time and from the same information send out the tally sheets and other supplies, at a great saving.

LAW SAVES LIVES

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28—Before the dry cleaning law was enacted three years ago, an average of one person was killed every month in explosion and fires in dry cleaning establishments. Since that law, there have been no deaths at any time, record of the state fire marshal show. There have been fires since the law was passed but due to the fire marshal's authority to specify certain types of buildings and to insist on safety devices and equipment, the deaths were prevented.

AFRAID SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Operation Advised, But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made It Unnecessary

Glasgow, Kentucky. — "I was run-down, nervous, with no appetite. My side had given me trouble for five or six years. At times it was all I could do to live, and the doctor said I couldn't live but a short time longer without an operation. That was two years ago. My sister-in-law recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She had never used it herself, but she said one of her neighbors suffered just like I did, and it cured her. After I had taken four bottles the pain left my side. I had a fine appetite to eat anything that was put before me, and I began to do all my work and my washing, something I hadn't done for years. I am a dressmaker, and this last fall I began suffering with my side again, so I began taking the Vegetable Compound again. I am on my fourth bottle, which makes eight in all I have taken. I feel so much better when I take it and everybody tells me I look better. My appetite improves and I feel stronger in every way. I am a very nervous woman and it seems to help my nerves so much." — Mrs. MAGGIE WALLER, Glasgow, Ky.

PROPOSE TO STOP CITY BOND ISSUE

Thirty-Two Taxpayers File Remonstrance Against Raising $30,000 For Improvements

UNNECESSARY, THEY ASSERT

Councilmen Say It Will Result in City Building Being Condemned and New One Built

Thirty-two taxpayers of the city have filed a remonstrance, asking for an appeal in the proposed $30,000 bond issue of the city council, to the state board of tax commissioners, setting out in their remonstrance that the improvements are unnecessary, unwise and excessive.

The remonstrance was filed with Phil Wilk, county auditor, who in turn today certified the facts to the state board, and they will set a date for the hearing.

The remonstrance is headed by Dr. D. H. Dean, and the other signatories are those of the following: J. D. Case, J. L. Cowing, W. P. Jay, J. H. Power, H. V. Logan, W. D. Root, O. M. Dale, W. O. Frazier, E. A. Frazier, Claude Cambern, J. C. Sexton, H. E. Daubenspeck, R. P. Havens, Mrs. C. H. Parsons, Mrs. B. W. Riley, B. W. Riley, Mrs. J. T. Borem, J. T. Arbuckle, Mrs. John Kennard, Sue M. Gregg, Rebecca D. Jordan, W. C. Culbertson, S. H. Fletcher, Rexie Vance, Albert L. Allen, John C. Wallace, Charles A. Moore, Will R. Taylor, C. H. Alger, Douglas Morris and Howard E. Barrett.

The $30,000 bond issue which was proposed by the city council, was for the purpose of remodeling the city building, retiring debts upon which money has been borrowed, to pay for a fire truck, and to meet expenses that will be necessary in street improvements this fall.

The remonstrance is in three sections, with the first declaring that the proposed issue should not be considered by the state board because the city has no authority or power under the laws of the state to issue bonds for any of the purposes set forth in the notice.

The second section declares that the notice given in the proceeding is null, void and insufficient for the reason that it does not state the net assessed value of all property. The third reason declares that the proposed improvements are not necessary, unwise and are excessive.

The city administration, in deciding upon the $30,000 bond issue, did so because of the condition of the city hall, which houses the fire department, and affords a meeting place for the councilmen.

The building is in a deplorable condition, and the councilmen decided that it could be put into shape without a complete rebuilding. The city's fire protection is away below normal, it is advocated, as evidenced in the large fire on January 23, and steps to remedy this weakness were taken.

One of the councilmen, when interviewed today, stated that the remonstrators will probably be faced with a larger bond issue, by the time that the thing has been put through the tax board. The building will be completely condemned from all angles, he said, which will make a new building at a cost of $75,000 or $100,000 probable, while as it was, the administration was attempting to save the taxpayers money, by working over the present building.

The state board of health, the fire

FOUGHT WITH POLICEMEN

Harry (Hip) Rainey Arrested On Public Intoxication Charge

Harry (Hip) Rainey, was arrested this morning about 3:30 o'clock near First and Main streets, on a charge of intoxication and for assault and battery on police officers. He was placed in jail, and will probably be given a hearing tonight in police court before Mayor Thomas.

According to the officers, Rainey was intoxicated and had made his way into a room on the third floor of the Grand hotel, and the officers were called. Police Chief Blackburn and Patrolman Havens encountered some difficulty, and several blows were exchanged before Rainey surrendered and was taken to jail.

NEVER MISSED A DAY

MISS VERA REYNOLDS

Miss Reynolds, who was graduated from the Rushville high school with the class of 1924, Tuesday night, has made a remarkable record in the common schools of Rush county, having completed the grades and high school course of twelve years in eleven years.

She also graduated with the distinction of never having missed a day of school, and never was tardy. She completed the four year high school course without taking an examination, having been exempted in all studies because of high grades.

Miss Reynolds is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Reynolds of Glenwood and attended the Glenwood grade schools, which she completed in seven years. She went to the Glenwood high school for two years and finished her high school course here. Miss Reynolds was awarded a gold medal when she graduated from the eighth grade for perfect attendance.

SAYS FEAR MUST FIRST BE ROUTED

Dr. Lewis A. Convis Gives Cultivation of Good Will And Increase of Knowledge as Remedy

TO BRING LIFE HAPPINESS

Commencement Speaker Addresses Largest Class and Big Crowd—Supt Scholl Gives Statistics

"Cultivate good will and increase your knowledge and fear will leave your life," counseled Dr. Lewis A. Convis, pastor of the First Congregational church of Chicago, in addressing the graduating class of the Rushville high school, and a crowd that filled the auditorium of the Graham Annex school building, at the annual commencement exercises Tuesday night.

Dr. Convis spoke on "The Road to Happiness" and the thought of his address was that no happiness or success may be attained in the world until fear, manifesting itself in worry, superstition, jealousy, envy and hatred, has been eliminated entirely from the life of the individual.

Fifty-seven graduates, the largest class in the history of the Rushville high school, sat upon the stage. Two other members of the class will receive diplomas when they complete their work this summer.

The crowd at the commencement was also the largest on record, many people being compelled to stand up, and others were unable to gain admission to the auditorium.

At the conclusion of the address, diplomas were awarded to members of the class by J. H. Scholl, superintendent of schools. Musical numbers included selections by the high school choir.

Prize winners in the essay contest held in connection with the observance of Boys Week, May 4 to 10, were announced at the closing high school assembly Tuesday afternoon.

Ryland Sherman, a freshman during the past year, won first—a $5 dollar gold piece—for his composition on the subject "My Kind of a Dad". Marland Alexander was given second—$3.00, and his subject was the same. Frank Green was awarded third prize—$2.00. The subject of his composition was, "What Home Should Mean to a Boy."

The winner of first prize is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sherman and the second place winner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander. Frank Green is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Green.

Two other boys competed. Robert Pitman wrote on "What Home Should Mean to a Boy" and James Carr on "My Kind of a Dad".

The $10.00 in cash prizes was given by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, which sponsored the Boys Week observance.

The three prize winning papers follow:

My Kind of a Dad

(By RYLAND SHERMAN)

There is more than just being a father of a boy, the boy and father should be very close pals and each know the others troubles. The greatest part of the fathers of today do not spend as much time with their boys as they should. Although they think as much of them they are too busy with their work, so they think to stop for a couple of hours and room with their boys through the woods or even take them skating or swimming, all of these any real boy wants to do. And if not given these chances he will possibly be a droom and lose his energy and in a few years he starts to go wrong and the fathers wonder what is the matter. It is all from neglect and lack of entertainment given by the father in the childhood of his son. On the other hand if the father is clean cut as a father should be and had given his boy a few hours each day the boy would grow in clean moral and spiritual ideas and make a good successful citizen and also have good health as a result of proper care of his body, when he was under

BUSINESS WILL HONOR SCUDDER

Stores and Offices will be Closed During Funeral of Former Mayor and City Councilman

WILL BE THURSDAY, 2:30 P. M.

Death Follows Four Years of Ill Health and Valiant Battle For Life—Lived Here 38 Years

Funeral services for Rudolph F. Scudder, age sixty-three years, who died at his home, 402 West Second street, Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, will be held at the late residence Thursday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock. Burial will be in East Hill cemetery.

On account of Mr. Scudder having been prominently identified with the business interests of the city for almost four decades, stores and offices will be closed and business will be generally suspended during the hour of the funeral.

Mr. Scudder had been in failing health for four years. He made the race for the republican nomination for mayor in the primary May 3, 1921, against a field of four other candidates, when he was scarcely fit physically to give any energy to public business.

But his business judgment was valued so highly that his friends urged him to be a candidate, and he was nominated by a plurality of 57 votes. He was defeated at the election November 8, 1921, by mayor Walter R. Thomas, by 138 votes, and soon afterwards his illness became so critical that he had to undergo an operation.

Since that time, Mr. Scudder had not been able to devote scarcely any time to his business, but he had been fighting valiantly for his life. He lay in a hospital in Detroit for several months and returned home very much encouraged over his condition, but never regained his health.

Mr. Scudder was born January 19, 1861, on a farm near Hamilton, Ohio, and was reared there. He came to Rushville thirty-eight years ago as a fire insurance agent and remained in that business all of his life. He was an adjuster for fire insurance companies for many years.

The deceased served several terms as a member of the school board and for many years was a director of the Rushville Co-operative Telephone company, in addition to serving two terms of four years each as city councilman and part of a term as mayor.

He was always interested in the improvement of Rushville and sacrificed his time and money for the industrial betterment of the city.

During the earlier years of his business career, Mr. Scudder acted as secretary of the Rushville Com-

JURY FINDS FOR YOUNG WOMAN

Deliberates 20 Minutes in Case of State Ex Rel Samantha Kannel Against Fred Lucas

FINAL DECISION WITH COURT

Divorce Epidemic Sweeps Circuit Court, Complaints Being Filed by Man and Woman

The jury in the circuit court this afternoon, in the case of the State, ex rel Samantha Kannel against Fred Lucas, a paternity proceeding, found for the plaintiff against the defendant, after a twenty minute deliberation.

Judge Sparks told the defendant to appear Saturday, when the court would announce the sum of money that is to be paid for the permanent support of the child. The case today before the jury was to decide whether the defendant was the father of the child, and it is up to the court to decide on the compensation.

Upon default to pay the compensation, the defendant will be sent to jail for the amount of money involved, according to the state statutes.

The jury that was hearing the case today, consisted of Mike Lovett, O. M. Offutt, Guy Gordon, Moll Wallace, C. M. George, James Mercer, Robert Humphrey, Curtis Thrall, Elmer Morris, John E. Harrison, O. M. Siler and John Jordan.

Several witnesses were used in the case, with Samantha Kannel, the prosecuting witness, being the first on the stand, in which she accused the defendant.

A divorce epidemic is sweeping the circuit court, as two more complaints were filed today, making several suits filed in recent days.

Chase S. Floyd says his wife threw his clothes out of the window, mistreated him by calling him names, and prevents him from removing his portion of the furniture. The complaint says that he and Daisy Floyd were married in November 1922 and separated May 22, 1924.

They reside at 415 North Arthur street, and it will be recalled that on the day of the alleged separation, the fire department was summoned by mistake when the police wanted to quell a family quarrel over the removal of a player piano.

The plaintiff alleges that the piano is his property and that he has a right to it. He has filed an injunction against him wife for damaging the piano, and the court will hear the evidence on the piano question Saturday morning.

Fannie M. Hurst has sued Alba Hurst, prominent Walker township people, alleging that they are unable to agree after 33 years of married life. They were married in 1891 and separated May 25.

Mrs. Hurst wants a divorce, restraining order, alimony and settlement of property rights. She charges that her husband had a bad temper, was quarrelsome and continually nagged at the plaintiff. She also says that he was a user of intoxicating liquor and that when under the influence of liquor, he mistreated her. She also says that he struck her, and pulled her over the ground.

She alleges in her complaint that she owns the 110 acre farm where

REMONSTRANCE IS FILED

Taxpayers Seek to Stop Building of James Shannahan Road

A remonstrance against the James Shannahan et. al road, in northwestern Rushville township, has been filed in the county auditor's office and has been certified to the state board of tax commissioners, which will pass on it. The remonstrance contains the signatures of 75 taxpayers.

The contract for building the road was let to Winslow and Hooten at the May meeting of the board of commissioners for $23,500 and the bonds for $24,800, to pay the expenses of building the road, have been issued.

The remonstrators allege the road is not needed and the expense entailed is out of proportion to the benefits.

CALLED TO TESTIFY IN AUTO THEFT CASE

Sheriff Hunt and Six New Salem Men go to Vincennes as Witnesses Against Negroes

CAUGHT IN THIS COUNTY

Sheriff S. L. Hunt of this city, and a party of six New Salem men, including Dr. H. P. Metcalf, Jake Perkins and others, left at noon today in an automobile for Vincennes where they were summoned as witnesses in the case against three colored men, who were arrested several weeks ago at New Salem.

The trio, it will be recalled, had entered the shop of a New Salem merchant for something to eat, and they were detected by Dr. Metcalf. It developed, after their arrest, that the machine had been stolen from Vincennes.

The three men were captured by the citizens of New Salem, and brought to jail here. The officers of Vincennes came here for them, and the case is to be heard Thursday in the court. The local men were wanted as witnesses.

Sheriff Hunt will remain until after the case has been decided, and if all three are not convicted, he was prepared to serve them with a warrant to return them to jail here for trial on a burglary charge.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY IN COURT

Harry Schmalzel and Robert Goodin Arraigned at Connersville

Harry Schmalzel of this city, who was held in jail at Connersville on a charge of issuing a fraudulent check, was arraigned today at noon before Judge Himelick, and entered a plea of not guilty. He provided bond in the sum of $1,000, and was released and his case will be set for trial later.

A man giving his name as Robert Goodin of Rushville, was arrested here and returned to Connersville to answer to a charge of removing mortgage property from the county. He also pleaded not guilty, and was released on $300 bond. The charge alleged that Goodin took an automobile from that city, without permission of persons who held a mortgage on it.

PROGRAM AT EAST HILL AND IN CITY

Morning Memorial Day Ceremony at Cemetery and Exercises in Afternoon at Court House

PARADE TO MOVE AT 9:00 A. M.

Flowers for Decorating Graves Wanted by 8 A. M.—Decorating of Homes and Stores Urged

The programs for the morning and afternoon exercises, which will be held here Friday, in observance of Memorial Day, were announced today.

The morning program will begin with a parade, leaving the court house at nine o'clock, which will move to East Hill cemetery, where exercises will be conducted at the Soldiers' monument, at the water's edge, in memory of the nation's sailors' dead, on the American Legion Lot and on the hillside overlooking the stream passing through the cemetery.

The main program will be given on the hillside, and the main address at that time will be delivered by Paul B. McNutt, ex-service man and head of the Indiana University law department, who is now a colonel in the reserve officers corps. Mr. McNutt is a very talented young man and a very eloquent address is assured.

A special appeal was made today by the American Legion, which co-operated with other patriotic organizations in arranging for observance for residents of the city to decorate their homes, and for business men to decorate their stores. The Legion is especially anxious that Memorial Day be properly observed this year in a true spirit of reverence for those who have died for their country.

There will also be a program in the afternoon at the court house assembly room, in charge of patriotic organizations, and the Rev. L. E. Brown of the Main Street Christian church will deliver the address.

It is urged that all who can provide flowers, have them at the sheriff's office on the lower floor of the court house by eight o'clock Friday morning, so that they may be made up into bouquets for decorating the graves of soldiers.

It is desired that ex-service men march in the parade to the cemetery and that they wear their uniforms. Automobiles will be provided for G. A. R. veterans, disabled veterans of other wars and women's patriotic organizations. School children will march in the parade, carrying flags.

The program for the morning ceremony will be as follows:

- 8:45—Parade forms at public square.
- 9:00—Parade moves to cemetery.
- 9:15—W. R. C. Ritualistic Services at Soldiers' Monument.
- 9:30—Song, "America" at Speakers' stand.
- Prayer, Rev. W. R. Sage.
- Introductory Remarks, J. H. Kiplinger.
- Address, Col. Paul B. McNutt.
- Benediction.
- 10:30—W. R. C. Ritualistic Services at the water.
- 10:45—American Legion Services at Legion Lot.
- 11:00—Decorating.

The following program will be given Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the court house by the different patriotic orders of the city:

ABANDONED MACHINE FOUND

Police Notified Owner Will Call For Car Located Here

A stolen automobile has been recovered by the police of this city, according to Orin Blackburn, police chief, who stated that the owners lived in Indianapolis. The machine was stolen from that city Sunday and driven here, and abandoned in Hannah street.

People living in that vicinity noticed the machine for a few days, and then called the police. This morning word was received from Indianapolis, that the owner would be here for it, and the announcement stated that a liberal reward was posted for the recovery of the car.

marshal's office and the state building inspector, are ready to place an immediate condemnation on the building, and have granted extensions of time for improvements. These three state agencies, it was said, have more authority than the tax board, and will be used as witnesses to compel the complete destruction of the building, and will force the issue for an entirely new building.

One of the councilmen stated that it appeared to be a question of a "grudge" against the city administration, existing in the vicinity of Main and Fifth streets. About a year ago these people, he said, had petitioned the council for a fire alarm box, and urged better fire protection in that vicinity of Main and Fifth street, and the petition was deferred.

The present city hall is overrun with bed bugs and efforts in the past have failed to get rid of them. One of the councilmen stated today that not a single one of the persons who had signed the remonstrance would even step inside of the bedroom at the fire station, yet they expect six firemen to remain on duty under such conditions.

No other building in the business district or fire limits, presents a greater fire hazard than the city hall. No other building in the business district is permitted to store hay, straw and other combustible material, it is pointed out. No other building in the business district is permitted to house a manure bin, which with strong odors on warm damp days spreads over an area of more than a block. With these conditions existing, one of the councilmen stated, that all of the agencies of the state that were for the protection of health, safety and protection of property, would force the issue with the remonstrators to the limit.

The Dowser Who Flivvered!

MYSTERIOUSLY guided by the behavior of a willow wand, sometimes a "dowser" — the water-wizard—tells where to dig a well which really yields water. Then much ado is made over the feat. But who ever hears similar noise about the dry holes, dug when the dowser flivvered?

Now and then, possibly, it just happens that people buy wisely without heed to advertisements. But the chances are against any one having such luck!

It does not "just happen" that advertised values are invariably genuine buying opportunities. They must be, because they are openly offered to everyone who reads about them.

Advertised value must be true value. Else it could not keep on being advertised to a public so keen and critical as this public of ours.

Read the advertisements school orchestra and a cornet solo by William Polk, a member of the orchestra. The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. L. E. Brown and the benediction by the Rev. Gibson Wilson.

Dr. Convis said that he felt quite at home in Rushville on account of having spoken at the chautauqua here, and having been engaged for next year, and added that "My friend Jess Pugh stands before me as a shining light of what Rushville can do."

"I like the word commencement," said Dr. Convis at the outset of the address, "but I don't like the word graduation. You are not finishing anything, but are just beginning something. You graduates probably think you have a post-graduate course in life, when you have only finished a course in the kindergarten of life."

Dr. Convis set out that humanity is largely dominated by fear, which breeds hatred and hatred is a forerunner of war.

"No success is possible," he continued, "until fear is brought under control. Fear dominates the physical world, and when it passes into the mental world, it wields its greatest havoc.

"Fear paralyzes progress. Men risk their lives because fear dominates their mental equipment. Fear in the mental world causes superstition. There is not a person in the house, including the speaker, who has not his pet superstition."

"When fear passes from the mental to the spiritual world, it causes the greatest disaster," Dr. Convis asserted. "Jealousy and envy and worry are all manifestations of fear. Worry is thinking in circles and it is due to being afraid of something that never happens. We build thousands of bridges every day that we never cross. We will never conquer disease until we overcome fear and cease to worry."

Dr. Convis declared that the remedy for fear is good will and education. He asked permission to translate the Bible quotation, "Perfect love casts out fear," to "perfect good will casts out fear," because love has so many meanings and expresses so many emotions.

"If we have good will toward our neighbors, life and God, there can be no envy, jealousy, hatred and worry," he said.

Dr. Convis thanked God for the 4,000 miles of undefended border between Canada and the United States, adding, "God keep America with good will towards all nations and we never need fear anyone."

"When you know, you cease to be afraid," the speaker asserted, in setting forth that fear is routed by education. He said that one hour a day settles the fate of every individual. Dr. Convis declared 7 p. m. was the hour—when every person decides how the evening will be spent. Whether it is spent profitably or wasted away, depends whether our lives will be progressive or stagnant, Dr. Convis said.

Before presenting the diplomas, Supt. Scholl pointed out that 671 pupils had been graduated from the Rushville high school in the past twenty years and that 691 percent of them had gone to school of higher education.

"The true test of any school is not its buildings or equipment, but whether its pupils seek higher education after completing its course," said Supt. Scholl. "It means that pupils have been imbued by their teachers to seek a higher education, which is the true goal of a good school."

Continuing with the statistics, Supt. Scholl stated that 25 percent of the graduates in the last 20 years had finished a four-year college course and that 134 of the high school graduates in that time had taught school or are now teaching. Fifty-one percent have married, he asserted, in answering the charge that higher education tends to decrease marriage. The superintendent also recalled that a representative of the Retherford family had been in every high school graduating class since the high school was organized in 1869.

mercial club and took an energetic interest in everything pertaining to the betterment of Rushville.

He was first elected councilman-at-large on November 4, 1913 by a plurality of 307 votes and was re-elected November 6, 1917 by a plurality of 137. Mr. Scudder was known as the watchdog of the city treasurer because he was always alert at any extravagance and was instrumental in keeping Rushville's tax rates down to the minimum. He kept a close check on the city's accounts and insisted on a business-like management of the water and light plant.

When the late Mayor A. B. Irvin died early in 1921, Mr. Scudder was appointed to fill out the unexpired term and later became a candidate for and won the republican nomination.

The deceased was an active member of St. Paul's M. E. church and the Knights of Pythias, Elks and Red Men lodges. He was also one of the originators of the Rushville Social club and served as its treasurer for many years.

Mrs. Scudder died ten years ago. Mr. Scudder is survived by his daughter, Miss Helen Scudder, two sisters, Mrs. J. C. McCormick of Crawfordsville, Ind., and Mrs. C. A. Kuhns of Dayton Ohio, and one half-brother, Paul Scudder of Hamilton Ohio.

BIBLE THOUGHT
—FOR TODAY—

Bible Thought: "What does God require?"

What does God require?
And now, Israel, what does the Lord thy God require of thee,
but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him; and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul. Deuteronomy
10:12.

Prayer:—We rejoice, our God, to know that thy commands are not grievous to those that love thee.

The Community's Loss

The death of Rudolph F. Scudder, former mayor and city councilman, is a great loss to the community, for he was a man whose devotion to public duty should serve as an inspiration to others less inspired.

The hour was never too late for him to serve the community in which he lived. Much precious time that could have been devoted to his own business, he spent in looking after the business of all the people. Not alone his time, but his money was used for the industrial betterment of Rushville, and many of the things that the community now enjoys may be attributed to his tireless energy and ambition to see his home city progress.

Mr. Scudder's life is a record of public service, at the sacrifice of his own business, his own welfare and his health. As a member of the school board, as an officer of commercial and social organizations, as a director of the Rushville Co-operative Telephone company—a community enterprise—and as a public servant elected by the people, his career stands out as a notable example of community service that should ever be held up before younger men, who may be selfishly inclined and unwilling to spare any of their time for the welfare of others.

Taxpayers Won't Forget

Regardless of what Congress may do with bills that President Coolidge returns to the Capitol without approval, the President has made his record on them, which the taxpayers will not forget. When the overwhelming votes for Mr. Coolidge were cast in the primaries the people had clearly in mind his repeated declarations in favor of economy. It was on the basis of those declarations that he has won such phenomenal popularity. In vetoing extra-budget bills, Mr. Coolidge has merely translated into action the principles that he has so frequently voiced. The voters have seen that their trust was not misplaced, and will rally to his support in increasing numbers next November.

Naval Renovation

The chairman of the naval affairs committee in the lower house of congress announces that he will soon ask an appropriation of $150,000,000 to start work on the naval building program recently approved by his committee. The plan calls for the construction of eight 10,000-ton cruisers, the modernization of six battleships, and the building of six river gunboats for patrol work in Chinese waters. It was the intention to spread the work over a period of five or six years, but the revelation of the relative deficiency of the United States navy in maintaining the 5-5-3 ratio of the Washington armaments treaty has led to the move ment to begin construction at an earlier date.

FOREWARNED IS FOREARMED

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The action of Congress in over-riding the president's veto on the bonus is believed to have made more certain a veto on the tax bill when it is finally submitted to the White House.

For one thing, enactment of the bonus makes necessary the raising of $144,000,000 in taxes for 1925 which would not have been needed had the presidential veto stood.

The rates in the revenue bill, as it finally will be presented, will be substantially the Democratic rates, which both Mellon and Coolidge have opposed as unscientific and inadequate. The jamming through of the bonus, therefore, against his wishes and advice, gives the president a plausible basis for rejecting the tax bill on the ground the new rates will not raise enough cash to meet other necessary expenses of the government and also provide the money for the bonus on which Congress insists.

MORE than the expense of the bonus, however, is troubling administration chiefs, with respect to the new revenue measure.

There is a growing doubt as to the permanence of the present national income. With business prosperous, wages and salaries high, a reduced rate on income taxes might easily be possible, even after providing for a bonus.

But there has developed during the past two months a distinct slowing up in many lines of industry. In some there has been an actual recession. This may mean merely that business proposes to move cautiously, as is often the case during presidential campaign years, or it may mean that we are approaching another definite step of readjustment in the process of getting back to pre-war normalcy.

"My mother gave me Cardui. I took about a half bottle and at this . . . I was able to get up and help with the work. Next time I took it again, and now, after taking two bottles, I do not have any trouble at all at this time. I gained, my skin cleared up, I am healthy and strong.

"My mother took Cardui for a weak, run-down condition. It did her more good for weakness and nervousness than any medicine she has ever taken. She took six bottles in all. We recommend it and certainly know its worth."

his father's care. Also the father should at all times encourage all undertakings worthy of advancement. The majority of the fathers of today think more of the dollar than they do of making the very best citizen of them.

My idea of an ideal father is one who at all times knows the troubles and whereabouts of his boy. And at least spends an hour each day with him in some sport. Whenever this becomes practiced in more American homes the standards of the boy will be raised. And also the boy will have pride enough to keep himself physically clean and mentally stronger than they are. And last of all every father if he be a man at all should discourage the use of tobacco and liquors among the boys.

My Kind of a Dad
(MARLAND ALEXANDER)

The kind of a Dad all true American boys love is the one that they can call Dad without the fear of being corrected for not saying "father". Some boys do call their dads, papa and father, but I do not believe that they get near the cheerfulness or respect of answer as the one who says, "Hey Dad, come here."

Most boys have dads, wonderful dads. I can remember the time when I was just a little fellow, at the age when nature takes hold of you and wants you to see, run into or imagine the most wonderful things. And Dad when evening came, no matter how tired he was, would take me on his lap and tell some of the greatest heard and elephant stories you ever heard. I believed them too because Dad was my big boss and I thought surely he knew everything and never went wrong in any of them.

I can remember when I first started to school, the way Dad told me how to take care of myself and sometimes he would wrestle and box with me, not minding the scoldings that mother always gave. Dad was so good to me. He would let me come over to the elevator and play in big wheat bins or let me try to weigh myself on the big scales. I always thought I was by myself on these exploits but dad I found afterwards, always had a watchful eye on me, because he was afraid I would get hurt or get into some mischief. If I got into some mischief he would send me home and tend to me afterwards, but if I was good—a dime's worth of candy was my reward.

Dad was my companion where ever I wished to go. He would take me swimming and fishing and when riding in the automobile he would let me set on his lap and guide the machine. This was indeed a great honor for none of the other boys got to do it and even mother didn't do it. When I was sick Dad was with me all the time he could spare and would give me pennies and nickels to take medicine that tasted so bad. The best cure Dad ever gave me though was by telling me that a circus was coming to town and a promise to get to go if I took my medicine. I took my medicine and in return dad and I went to the parade and circus both.

Now I am at the age where I can reason for myself and take care of myself but I owe all of my foundation to Dad. Probably upon reading this you would think I do not love my mother. My mother is all the world to me but I always go to her for sympathy or for the purpose of having her ask Dad for something I'm afraid he wouldn't give me. But I say to both—I love them with all my heart but here I have described my kind of a Dad—my own Dad.

What Home, Should Mean to a Boy
(BY FRANK GREEN)

The home of a boy should not be merely a place to eat and sleep. The home is or should be a fellows' "hang out", and not some public building or lodging joint.

It should be to a boy as a haven or port is to a ship in a storm. Every boy should have an interest in his home. He ought to work around the house and do little things for the betterment of it.

If a boy is really interested in his home, he can mow the lawns and clean the yard. I say to every mother and father, give your boy his regular amount of work and thereby stimulate an interest in the boy to work around home.

Home should mean to a boy a place where there is chores to do, a place where there is happiness, love and affection in the air and last but not least a place of refuge where a mother and father awaits and hopes.

Since the earliest times man has built for himself a cave, a rude structure, or a place to which he might return in times of danger or when he pleased and likewise is a home to a boy.

In the "feudal Times", a castle was to the people a place of safety from which they went forth to work

Favorite

The combination of printed and plain fabrics is one of fashion's favorites this summer. Here three bands of the plain material give a charming, bouffant effect to the skirt and the sash forms the only other trimming necessary besides the bows on the sleeve—always a feminine and alluring touch. The matching scarf is merely a two-yard length of the material bound with the plain silk.

and war. So is a home to a boy. After all home is what each boy makes it.

Therefore let every boy know what his home should mean to him and let him strive to make it so.

TO HAVE FROCK FOR REVERY OCCASION QUITE ESSENTIAL

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of the U. P.)
(Written for United Press)

New York, N. Y., May 28—To have a frock for every occasion is quite an essential thing these days. One needs morning frocks, afternoon frocks, beach frocks, tea frocks and frocks for various other occasions. The woman who is content to make one frock do for all occasions is no longer seen in the cities where ready made garments sell so cheaply.

The women of limited means often find the task of being appropriately gowned for all occasions a difficult one. Therefore, it is the woman, who is clever at remodeling last year's gowns who always appears well dressed in spite of a meagre pocket-book. Making over clothes is an art in itself. It is more difficult to remodel an old gown than to make a new one.

There are many ways, however, to remodel last year's frocks so that they will bear the earmarks of 1924. We will take the typical frock of last spring and summer for instance. These frocks had the low-blooused waistline made on an elastic band. And we all know, the elastic waist-band is no longer used on the smarter gowns of this season since most gowns are devoid of waistline, being straight-lined models. By removing the elastic band from an old frock, and reducing the width of the skirt by taking in the side seams, one has the invariable silhouette of today.

If the straight chemise effect is too severe, a bow of self material or chiffon can be attached at one side of the gown, giving the side-trimming effect which is in vogue. Those who prefer a semblance of waistline may use a band of ribbon or self material to form a narrow girdle effect. Often we find that the ready-made frocks has been pieced together at the elastic waistline. In this case one may insert a narrow band of heading or embroidery at the waistline. Where fullness is used in the skirt, it must be confined over the hips as the front and back of all frocks are flat this year.

The panel frock of last year is also passed, but taking off panels is a very simple matter and the material used in the panels may be utilized elsewhere on the frock. If the panels are sufficiently wide they may be added to the back of the frock to give the waistlength cape effect. Narrow panels may be joined together with extra lace to insure width for the capelet. Again, one may sew the panel material together and have it pleated to produce a cape. There is another way panels may be used to trim a frock. By using them in band form about the skirt just below the knees, one has the new bottom-trim effect. Many of the latest frocks have flaring flounces at the bottom of the skirt. A straight-line frock can have a flounce of contrasting material added below the knees to give the flounce effect. In fact, many of the new figured silk gowns have wide flounces of taffeta in solid color finishing the bottom of the skirt.

The black frock can be vastly altered by applying several layers of crepe de chene of contrasting colors at the hem. By simply stitching three narrow widths of contrasting colors together and adding them to the hem one has a 1924 frock.

Then, as to the evening frock!

"Fair and Sunny"

Miss Edna Pilkington is England's only woman weather forecaster, succeeding her mother at Buxton, Derbyshire, station.

There are so many ways of giving the faded evening frock a new lease on life! By using ostrich or marabou banding about the hem, on scarf ends, etc., one has one of the latest frocks. Then again, the frock of last season may be remodeled by simply using row after row of dyed lace or ruffles upon the skirt. Fluffy, ruffled frocks are very much in vogue for slender figures and almost any frock can be turned into this class. Even by using a layer of pleated chiffon on the skirt, one has a new garment.

Gowns of the tailored type can be remodeled by using the front trimming effects which are so popular today. This is achieved by means of an embroidered band which extends from neckline to hem. On either side of the narrow embroidery band are tiny ruffles of shirred lace. One may also use the button trimming down the front of the semi-tailored frock. In this case a row of crystal or pearl buttons extends from neck to hem with a narrow lace or net edging at either side of the buttons, running the length of the frock. The Eaton collar and bow tie usually accompany a dress of this sort.

BAN IS PARTIALLY LIFTED
Methodist Church Attitude Towards Amusements is Changed

Springfield, Mass., May 27—The amusement ban prohibiting dancing, games of chance, theatres, horse racing and other questionable or misleading amusements, was partially lifted by the General conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today after a stormy session.

The conference voted to adopt the majority report of the committee on state of churches.

Methodists will in the near future be required to refrain from "such diversions as can not be used in the name of Jesus Christ."

The report scores certain amusements and contains a warning against attending the immoral, questionable and misleading theatrical or moving picture performance or dances.

ELECTION LAWS NEED A CHANGE

George Healey, Clerk of State Board of Election Commissioners, Urges New Laws

TWO FAULTY STATUTES

Primary Election Should be Abolished and Absent Voter's Law Changed, is His Stand

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28—The next state legislature should abolish the primary system and take drastic steps to safeguard from fraud the present absent voters' law, in the opinion of Col. George Healey, clerk of the state board of election commissioners.

These recommendations come from Col. Healey after a careful study of the operation of the primary and absent voters laws.

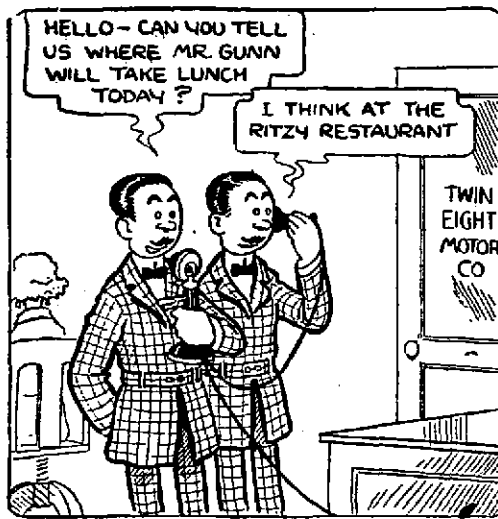

"To speak entirely of my opinion and not to commit in any manner the members of the board, with whom I have not discussed the matter," said Col. Healey, "I feel certain that the primary law should be repealed and the absent voter law safeguarded from fraud."

Continuing, he said: "While the information will not be available as to the cost of the primary of May 6th until after the various Boards of county commissioners of the state have held their June session, and the reports asked for have been sent in to the state board of election commissioners, the volume of the expense will be large and it contributes materially to the tax burden without bringing any recompensing advantage to the people of the state."

"The ideals of nomination purity which the advocates of the direct primary hold certain to result have not ensued and it is easily observed by any person who makes only a cursory study of the matter that the primary is subjected to all of the bad influences that were changed against the convention method of nomination."

"The conventions cost the state nothing; the primaries cost many thousands of dollars. Conventions were generally composed of delegates were chosen by electors who could gather in mass and make their selections with a better discrimination than can be exercised with the ballot.

"It is doubtful if half of the voters in Indianapolis knew what delegates on their ballot would support their candidate for Governor if the nomination went to the convention, and the time allotted the voter was so short in some precincts that the ballot could not be marked if the voter knew just who he wanted to vote for. The result was that the number of votes cast for delegates constituted only a fraction of the vote cast for governor."

"I believe it is as safe to trust to the judgment of delegates selected by mass convention as to the electors primarily, for often the delegates will secure nearer the correct estimate of candidates than will the voters at large."

"The primary has been given a thorough trial and has been denounced by leaders of both of the major parties, but its repeal has been thwarted by a fear that it was really a popular measure."

"The party that has the courage to abolish it will be doing a very useful service to the taxpayers and at no sacrifice to the quality of party candidates."

Turning to the "absent voter" law, Col. Healey said there is no doubt that extensive frauds are committed by unscrupulous political agents who solicit voters to remain at home on the claim of illness or to leave the county, and then get the ballots and vote them as they please.

"The mere matter of making the affidavit for the ballot and then the affidavit which goes on the back of the envelope in which the ballot is enclosed is very simple, provided the officer administering the oath is in on the deal," he said. "In this way, votes can be purchased with the full knowledge of the buyer that the voter has delivered what he has paid for."

"The wide disparity of use of (absent voter) privilege indicates one of two things. Either there is extensive fraud in some counties where the percent of the use is large, or many who are entitled to vote in this manner in other counties fail to take advantage of the opportunity, for the percent of "absent" used varies from six-tenths of one percent in Lake county to 13 percent in Cass county."

"In Marion county in the 1922 general election, little more than 2 percent of the vote cast was by "absent" voters. There were more than 91,000 votes cast in Marion county and of these 2,174 were by "absent" voters. Cass county has only about 16 percent of the vote of Marion county and yet it used 2,161 absent voters on only about 13 county."

"Allen county used 2 percent, Vigo county 4 percent, Steuben county less than 2 percent, Lagrange county 3 percent. There were many in the class ranging less than 5 percent, but a number of counties used somewhat more. Miami and Hendricks each used 9 percent, Warrick and Fountain each used 10 percent, Johnson used over 11 percent and Martin used 12 percent."

"Imagine from 5 to 13 percent of the qualified voters of a county either being confined to their homes by sickness or the infirmities of age unavoidably absent from the county on election day. And imagine the tax on notary publics authorized to administer oaths to take care of all the jurats necessary to handle this great army of 'absent' voters."

"Martin county cast less than 5,000 votes and has 677 to vote by absent ballot. Out of every eight or nine voters one was either sick or away from home. DuBois county, adjoining Martin, cast 1500 more votes but used only 354 absent ballots. Other counties adjoining Martin with much larger voting population used vastly less absent voter ballots."

"No investigation has been conducted in the state to determine the extent of frauds practiced, but the board has learned that some county clerks have hired assistants to distribute and administer oaths and carry the ballots back to the clerk's office. All of this is illegal and should be vigorously prosecuted. However, it would seem that unless the provisions of the law can be so rigidly safeguarded as to prevent fraud it would be better to annul it along with the primary."

"Another and very necessary correction to the law is to provide a greater lapse of time prior to the election to the filing of new party tickets. At present tickets can be filled up to twenty days before the election the county clerks must call on the state board of election commissioners for absent voter ballots. It is thus possible for the absent voter ballots to be secured and distributed and then another ticket be filed."

"A further economy would result if all the supplies for the election were furnished by the state instead of each county getting its own from the county contractor. This would provide uniformity, void expensive duplication and there would be no possibility of the supplies being furnished and paid for in excess of the need. The state board collects the information on which the ballots are furnished and could at the same time and from the same information send out the tally sheets and, other supplies, at a great saving."

LAW SAVES LIVES

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28—Before the dry cleaning law was enacted three years ago, an average of one person was killed every month in explosion and fires in dry cleaning establishments. Since that law, there have been no deaths at any time, records of the state fire marshal show. There have been fires since the law was passed but due to the fire marshal's authority to specify certain types of buildings and to insist on safety devices and equipment, the deaths were prevented.

Terre Haute—On account of the large number of jail escapes recently, Sheriff Armstrong has decided to allow visitors only on Sundays and Thursdays.

AFRAID SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Operation Advised, But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made It Unnecessary

Glasgow, Kentucky. — "I was run-down, nervous, with no appetite. My side had given me trouble for five or six years. At times it was all I could do to live, and the doctor said I couldn't live but a short time longer without an operation. That was two years ago. My sister-in-law recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She had never used it herself, but she said one of her neighbors suffered just like I did, and it cured her. After I had taken four bottles the pain left my side. I had a fine appetite to eat anything that was put before me, and I began to do all my work and my washing, something I hadn't done for years. I am a dressmaker, and this last fall I began suffering with my side again, so I began taking the Vegetable Compound again. I am on my fourth bottle, which makes eight in all I have taken. I feel so much better when I take it and everybody tells me I look better. My appetite improves and I feel stronger in every way. I am a very nervous woman and it seems to help my nerves so much." — Mrs. MAGGIE WALLER, Glasgow, Ky.

Rushville Students Listed in Indiana University Class of 614 Graduates

EXERCISES ON JUNE 11

The Misses Lillian Mullins, Maud Jones, Janet Dean and Wilbur J. Cox Finish Courses

Of the total number of candidates for degrees in 1924, 562 expect to receive their sheepskins next month, while the remaining 52 will not be granted diplomas until October but will participate in the ceremonies and enjoy the privileges of the regular graduating class.

Two weeks of gala events are planned in honor of the graduates, their visiting friends and relatives, and hundreds of I. U. alumni who will make their annual pilgrimage to Bloomington for class reunions. Dr. James Albert Woodburn, Indianapolis "grand old man," who is retiring this year as head of the history department, will give the commencement address, and Bishop Frederick D. Leete, of the Methodist Episcopal church, Indianapolis, will preach the baccalaureate sermon.

Receptions, concerts, banquets, Big Ten baseball, reunions, an exhibit of the work of Indiana artists, theatricals, a circus, and the awarding of degrees are all crowded into the 1924 program. The commencement activities will open Tuesday, May 27, with a reception to the seniors by President and Mrs. William L. Bryan. The senior convocation and the law school dinner are scheduled for May 28. The Phi Beta Kappa address comes the following Thursday evening. A sacred concert and the baccalaureate address have been set for Sunday, June 8.

Senior day, June 9 will see the annual breakfast for senior women, flag raising, ivy and tree planting exercises, peace pipe ceremony, class oration, memorial presentation, alumni banquets at organization houses, Purdue-Indiana baseball game, band concert, and a performance of the Jordan River Revue. Alumni day activities, Tuesday June 10, will include the alumnae breakfast, election of a trustee, class reunions and dinners, and all-university circus, and other events. The program closes

WYATT'S CEDAR CHEST WEEK

Featuring the celebrated LANE cedar chest brings the greatest values at the lowest prices we've ever seen

HERE is news that's going to interest women more than any bargain announcement made in this locality for some time. Tremendous price concessions quoted by the manufacturer especially for LANE Cedar Chest Week are being passed on to you with the barest profit to us. Ordinarily, we couldn't come within dollars of touching the remarkably low figures you'll find here. Remember, too, that every chest in this sale is a first quality, latest style, genuine red cedar LANE.

Any one of them would make a mighty timely and appropriate gift for the June bride or girl graduate. This is a suggestion and an opportunity for younger men as well as fathers and mothers. Now is the time also to store winter furs and woollens. The LANE, being moth-proof, dust-proof and damp-proof, provides absolute security for generations. In addition, from among the many beautiful patterns and styles, in all-cedar or cedar finished with mahogany and walnut, you can select one that will harmonize with your furniture and add beauty to your room.

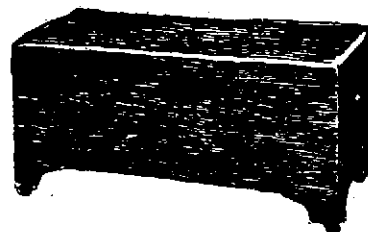

Every woman wants a cedar chest
Now is the time to get yours
Just look at the bargains here!

40" long, 18" wide, 17" deep

Look at the price we have put on this genuine red cedar chest, beautifully trimmed with cedar and copper. It is so low you will want to buy two—but to give all an equal opportunity we are forced to limit the sale of this chest to one to a customer as long as the pattern lasts. The cost of one moth-eaten garment might more than pay for this chest.

$29.75

No. 48300—48" long, 19 1/2" wide, 20 1/2" deep. This is an attractive, round corner, trunk lid pattern, one of the most popular chests on our floor.

$24.75

No. 48130—45" long, 20" wide, 21" deep. This is finely decorated with cedar panels—an ideal piece of furniture for the bedroom or up-stairs hall.

$32.75

No. 48300—48" long, 20" wide, 22" deep. This is in the desirable Queen Anne design. It is a beautifully decorated chest and, like every LANE, positively moth-proof, dust-proof, damp-proof.

$17.75

48" long, 19" wide, 18" deep

This is a full 48" chest—big, roomy and ideal for storage purposes. The finely cedar-decorated front is particularly handsome. This chest, cushioned, will make an attractive window seat, or dressing lounge for the foot of the bed. Only one of this pattern (as long as it lasts) will be sold to a customer at this remarkable price.

Our easy payment terms will apply during this sale

Come in and see these LANE Cedar Chests this week. Note the many beautiful designs and how carefully they are made—the interlocked corners, the sturdy legs that are screwed on instead of being nailed, the double plated hardware and Yale lock, and the other evidences of fine workmanship that have made the LANE the foremost cedar chest. All are guaranteed.
